

Status 12/18

From the airport to Stendal

We recommend that you fly in to either Berlin, Hanover or Leipzig/Halle, as these airports offer the best connections to Magdeburg.

Berlin – Stendal

Arrival in Berlin Tegel Airport:

From Berlin Tegel Airport take bus X9 or TXL to Berlin's main railway station (Hauptbahnhof). From there take the train to Stendal.

Duration: approx. 1.5 to 2 hours

Cost: approx. €20 to €30

Arrival in Berlin Schönefeld Airport:

There is a railway station right by the airport from where you can take the train to Stendal.

Duration: approx. 1.5 to 2 hours

Cost: approx. €20 to €30

Hanover – Stendal

From the airport take tram no. 5 (S5) towards Paderborn Hbf (main station). Change at Hanover Hbf (main station) for trains to Stendal. Either take the Berlin train which goes via Stendal, or the Magdeburg train, and then from Magdeburg take a further train to Stendal.

Duration: approx. 2 to 3 hours

Cost: approx. €20 to €40

Leipzig/Halle – Stendal

From the airport take the train to Magdeburg Hbf (main station). There take tram no. 1 (S1) in the direction of Wittenberge as far as Stendal or take another train (IC/RE) from Magdeburg to Stendal.

Duration: approx. 2 hours

Cost: approx. €20 to €35

Hamburg – Stendal

From the airport take tram no. 1 (S1) towards Wedel (Holst) as far as Hamburg Hbf (main station) and then take the train towards Berlin Ostbahnhof (east station) via Stendal. Alternatively take the train to Wittenberge. There take tram no. 1 (S1) in the direction of Schönebeck as far as Stendal.

Duration: approx. 2.5 to 3.5 hours

Cost: approx. €30 to €50

Status 12/18

Useful links and further information

Further information on travelling with Deutsche Bahn (the German Railways) can be found on www.bahn.de and www.reiseauskunft.bahn.de .

Otherwise, it may be possible to find a car share via the online carpooling marketplace, BlaBlaCar. www.blablacar.de.

Another transport option is provided by various long-distance coach companies. Several service providers and prices can be compared on the online portal www.busliniensuche.de. The largest coach company in Germany is Flixbus. www.flixbus.de. The departure points from Berlin to Magdeburg are Berlin Central Bus Station (ZOB) by the Funkturm (broadcasting tower) or Berlin Alexanderplatz. From Magdeburg you can take the train to Stendal.

Google Playstore/Apple Appstore also have the apps for Deutsche Bahn, BlaBlaCar and Flixbus for information on the go about departure times and booking.