

Late Summer School 2017

Registration and fees

Who can take part in the Late Summer School, how do I register and how much does it cost to take part? An overview of all the key information is provided below.

Who can take part in the Late Summer School?

The Late Summer School is aimed at...

- All German and international students starting on participating Bachelor's degree courses* who are starting their studies in the 2017/18 winter semester
- International exchange students on all courses at the University

The subject-related preparatory courses are tailored to the needs of first-time students, however Master's students are also very welcome to join.

How much does it cost to take part in the Late Summer School?

Fees are payable to participate in the Late Summer School. The basic fee to join the Late Summer School is 60 euros (Magdeburg) or 30 euros (Stendal) excluding the cost of optional excursions and, where applicable, use of Magdeburg's public transport. The cost of the excursions varies from 12 to 30 euros, depending on the excursion. A public transport pass covering the period of the Late Summer School costs 30 euros.

Participants are responsible for paying the cost of accommodation and meals themselves.

How do I register for the Late Summer School?
